Olivia Victoria Andrzejczak
A Brief Biography

The first of her family to be born in the United States, in Westwood, NJ, Olivia Andrzejczak grew up in nearby Hackensack where she attended Jackson Avenue Elementary School and the Hackensack Middle School. She was accepted to the Academy for the Advancement of Science in Technology of the Bergen County Academies, and is due to graduate this spring. Despite her more scientifically-oriented schooling, however, Olivia has always been heavily involved with the arts, whether through writing, dancing, painting, or performing. She has one brother, Christopher Andrzejczak, who is currently in graduate school at Embry Riddle University. Olivia adores travel, studying foreign languages, the writing of Vladimir Nabokov, and, especially when eating fruit, the sense of taste. She will be attending Princeton University in the fall.
